LOCAL BRIEFS.

Go to Jack Gates' place for pure malt whiskey for medical purposes.

Lieutenant Richard Fleischer went south on Monday morning's train.

Tom Casanega, the cattle man, was in the city the forepart of the week.

Mail orders promptly filled—Harry A. Drachman Shoe Co., Tucson, Ariz.

Mr. Barnes, the mining man, returned from the east last Tuesday morning.

Cattle buyers will do well to address Frank Smith, Arivechi, Sonora, Mexico.

Pedro B. Salazar, of Phoenix, was a visitor in Nogales several days this week.

Thos. Forsyth was in the city the fore part of the week from his Sonoita ranch.

Hon. George Atkinson, the cattle man, was in town Tuesday from Calabasas.

Judge D. J. Cumming was in from his Palo Parado ranch last Tuesday on business.

J. J. Pompa, a prosperous Altar merchant, was in Nogales this week on business.

E. B. Hogan has established a wood yard just beyond Pomeroy's blacksmith shop on Railroad avenue.

C. C. Wheeler, the Tucson merchant, was in Nogales last Saturday interviewing our grocery men.

BORN.—Last Saturday, to the wife of Tiburcio Ruiz, a girl. Both mother and child are doing nicely.

The two youngest children of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Raphael have about recovered from the measles.

Pete McCullar, brother of Sam McCullar, the cattle buyer, came up from the Bacanuchi ranch last Monday.

Mr. Neer, the mining man, who has been east on business, returned last Tuesday and is at the Montezuma.

The most complete stock of shoes in southern Arizona are carried by the Harry A. Drachman Shoe Co., Tucson, Arizona.

Dr. A. A. Clarke, physician at the Mexicana mine, in the Arizpe district, Sonora, was in the city several days this week shaking hands with his many Nogales friends.

"Frank," who for a long time kept Harlow & Gowan's office in apple-pie order, has accepted the position of porter at the railway depot. We wish Frank every success in his new position.

James S. Reddock, a well known freight conductor on the Southern Pacific with headquarters at Tucson, was among the visitors from the old pueblo this week.

J. H. Pomeroy, the blacksmith and carriage maker, has an ad in this issue of THE VIDETTE. Mr. Pomeroy has had years of experience in his business and is prepared to guarantee all his work.

Fred Becker, than whom a better fellow does not live, returned from Hermosillo Monday evening. He reports having had a most delightful time and says the Hermosillo people know how to do the grand.

Last Friday the happy home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve M. Aguirre was made still more happy by the arrival of a pretty baby girl. Both mother and baby are doing nicely and Steve is the happiest man in town.

The free reading room recently established by the railroad boys in the new depot building is a credit to the originators and the town. Our townspeople should give the boys every encouragement and anyone having books, magazines and other periodicals for which they have no use, will be helping a worthy cause by donating them to the railroad reading room.

Mr. W. H. Randall, the well known mining man, left last Friday for the Salt River valley, where he will spend the winter enjoying the delightful climate for which that valley is famous.

Mr. Randall is one of Nogales' most prosperous and progressive business men, and the Line City can ill afford to lose him for even a short period. With Mr. Randall went "Fitz," his dog, who also will be greatly missed by every man, woman and child who knew him, for "Fitz" is worth a million most dogs.

While we regret to see Billy and "Fitz" go, we wish them a pleasant time and a speedy return to Nogales.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Monthly Report.

Conditions throughout the general business world offer the highest encouragement. Large aggregate of volume of business for November, increased foreign demand, and comparatively few failures, show an unusual condition of financial soundness.

Export of food products continues large. Industries generally have done well. The most important event being the placing of orders for 700,000 tons of steel rails.

The price situation is on the whole satisfactory, as more advances than declines were recorded for the month.

In our immediate vicinity business is affected somewhat by the fact that November has passed bringing no rain. Business must of necessity move along very conservative lines until there is a good soaking rain.

Interest centers now in the coming orange crop, and orange buyers are particularly active, and holiday shipments are going forward. It is claimed that the fruit sent forward is better than the fruit sent last year for Christmas trade. The price for fancy navel is $2.50 top price, 15 cents less than opening price last year.

The walnut crop is about moved. One beneficial result of this year's short crop will be that no walnuts will be carried over, thus insuring for the coming season a clean market.

Eastern demand for dried fruits is fairly active and prices are well sustained. The raisin crop of state on best grades is well cleaned up. Under the management of the raisin combine it is shown the net rate per pound received for whole crop will average about 3 1/2 cents, as against a net average return last year of 1 1/2 cents.

The celery crop was the largest crop yet moved from this section.

Barley prices remained unchanged during the month. Corn brought full prices. A general advance went into effect on beans. The stocks are reduced and held firm.

Failures for November were the lightest of any month during the year in our district, being 9 in number, with liabilities $11,000, assets $3,000, against 15 in November 1897, with liabilities of $31,000, assets $12,000.

W. T. BRODRICK DEAD.

Heart Disease Suddenly Removes a Well Known Citizen.

The entire community was shocked last Monday evening by the intelligence that Will Brodrick was dead. Ten minutes before overtaken by the grim monster—death—he was in apparent usual health and at 7 o'clock was standing on the sidewalk talking and joking with some friends. Suddenly he was taken with severe pains in his heart and told his friends who wanted to call a carriage to convey him to his home on Nob Hill, that he could not go so far, to take him to a room in the Nogales House, where he thought he would soon be himself again. They did as Mr. Brodrick requested, but instead of improving he became worse and in a few minutes died in terrible agony.

Mr. Brodrick had been troubled some time with heart failure and only a few days ago was overtaken by a severe attack but recovered and thought no more of it.

W. T. Brodrick for a long time was a conductor on the Sonora railroad but resigned some time ago, since which time he has been following his old trade—painting. Just last week his wife and little boy went to their old home in Indiana, to visit relatives and the news of the sudden loss of a kind and loving husband and father will be a severe blow to them.

"Brodrick" as his friends called him, was possessed of a happy disposition and numbered his friends by the hundreds. He was a member of the Railway Conductors, the Workmen and the Red Men, which orders have taken charge of the remains and will send them to his former home at Elkhart, Indiana.

THE VIDETTE extends heartfelt sympathy to a sorrowing family in the far east in their great loss.

A BIG COLONY.

Over 10,000 Russians May Locate in Arizona.

Somewhere in the southwestern portion of the United States—probably New Mexico or Arizona, possibly in Colorado—will be established a colony of 10,000 Russians, says the Rocky Mountain News, adherents of a religious sect as exists. They are Dhoukhorosti, and for years have been known as Count Tolstoi's pets. They have long been the victims of persecution at the hands of the Russian government. At the instance of Count Tolstoi, a meeting was recently held to consider his plan to colonize these people in the United States, and it was decided to extend every assistance possible. Count Tolstoi has obtained from Russia permission for their emigration.

The Dhoukhorosti, according to an authority, is a strange sect with a strange history. The word itself means "spirit wrestlers," or "champions of the spirit." They deny that there is a personal God. Their doctrine of the trinity is that memory is God, the father; reason, God, the Son; and will, God, the Holy Ghost. They believe in the immortality of the soul; but say that a new born child has no soul, and that the soul does not enter the body until the fifteenth or sixteenth year after birth.

TERRITORIAL MINING NOTES.

A big boiler, engine and rock breaker went forward to the Tennessee mine yesterday. It is the intention of the company to concentrate all ores showing a small percentage of metal to make it profitable to ship to the Colorado smelters.—Mohave Miner.

Very rich gold ore has been discovered on the black point at Cerbat. Specimens brought to Kingman are more than half gold. For many years rich float rock has been found there, but the ledge was unearthed only a few days ago.—Mohave Miner.

The Allison & Weeks gold mines near the Fresnal is producing very high grade gold ores, some of which are being shipped yield over $1,000 per ton. The large ore body continues at depth. Last week a very rich streak was struck, which runs up in the thousands in gold.—Tucson Star.

Word from Rosemont Camp, Pima county, is to the effect that a large body of high-grade copper sulphides has been struck in the company's mines. It is also rumored on good authority that Ed. Hughes has closed a sale of his copper group in the Santa Rita.—Yuma Sun.

J. Warren Young has been notified of an important strike on his claim, the Wedge, adjoining the Kasser mines in Lost Guach in Gila county. The ore was discovered by Pete Simon while doing assessment work; the pay streak is eighteen inches wide and runs about $150 in gold to the ton.—Republican.

Ralph Dillon is said to be en route from England, having accomplished his task of enlisting foreign capital to operate the Winningham properties at Jerome. The starting of the work and the good showing they are said to make, will result in a dozen other properties starting up, and which adjoin them.—Journal-Miner.

Advices from the Grand Reef mine are to the effect that the showing of precious metals increases with depth. The big ledge has been penetrated to a depth 457 feet and a tunnel is being run to strike the 400-foot level. Both drifting and sinking are being prosecuted vigorously, and the promise of the mine is steadily growing greater.—Tucson Star.

Superintendent Clark of the Fool's Gulch mine still pushes work on that property, having a force of twenty-five men at work sinking. He has reached a depth of nearly 800 feet so far, and will continue until 2,000 feet has been reached, when the mill will be started. A vein of ore three feet wide and running $30 to the ton is said to have been recently struck.—Phoenix Republican.

Mr. S. H. Gould, superintendent of the Oro Mining company of Oro Blanco, is in the city for a few days. Mr. Gould reports progress at the company's mines with prospects indicating that the company has a bonanza in its property. The shaft is going down at the rate of three feet per day, and has already reached a depth of 260 feet.—Tucson Citizen.

YESTERDAY'S STORM.

There Was Snow and Divers Other Discomforts.

There was snow yesterday says the Phoenix Republican of last Saturday. Some said it blew in from the Four Peaks on a strong east wind, but others believed that it fell from the heavens. Anyhow there had been a threatening of atmospheric disturbance for days. It culminated about 3 o'clock yesterday morning in rain-bearing gusts from the east. Soon after daylight there was a suspicion of snow which soon developed into facts and flakes. The fall grew quite heavy, but there was no accumulation. The lap of the Salt River valley afforded the white winged visitors too warm a reception. The snow continued at close recurring intervals until about 9 o'clock last night when it was driven out of the air by a temperature which rose to the occasion. But it was pretty much of a snow for Phoenix, the first in five years and the longest in duration within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

It came as an unpleasant surprise to the winter visitor, who looked upon it as a nemesis which he had sought to escape by coming south. The snow, though, was much less unpleasant than the cold rain which chilled the marrow and woke up the depths of mud. It was a day of general unpleasantness in Phoenix. It closed with no absolute guaranty that tomorrow and even the next day would be any better. The discomfort was not relieved by a shortened street car service, waiting upon which men grew aged and profane. Nor was there the glimmer of an are light all night long by which the belated might find their way home. Everything had gone wrong simultaneously. The only consolation amid this elemental and corporation misconduct was that things could not go on this way long. In a day or two, perhaps tomorrow morning the sun would come up with smiling and innocent face as if he had not missed a stroke. He would dry up the mud and then the street cars would run again. The heavens would be cleared of clouds at night and then the Philadelphia moonlight schedule and are lights would again become of force and effect. But however disagreeable the weather has been or may be it is nothing to the atmospheric conditions of the north and the east. The storm of yesterday was only a mere detached edge of the blizzard which raged over Texas.
